

T&C`s

1. Contract offer and formation

1. Applications are completed by the applicant sending an estimate request form to the school.
2. For 1-year and 18-month courses, applicants must apply and pay the application fee by the application deadline.
3. The school assumes that all applicants complete their applications after having read and understood the terms and conditions.
4. The contract is concluded when the school sends the invoice to the applicant.

2. Reasons for refusal of application

The School reserves the right to refuse any application without reason, at the sole discretion of the school. In particular, applicants will be refused in the following cases:

1. The applicant is under 18, and the applicant's parent or legal guardian has not given verifiable permission to study.
2. The applicant has not reached the age required by the school to take the course (16 years old in Tokyo/Nagoya, 14 years old in Kyoto/Fukuoka)
3. The requested course is unavailable or full. (The School alone determines availability.)
4. The time to complete the procedures to apply for the requested course is insufficient. (We ask people to apply at least one month in advance. However, shorter notice is possible, especially if accommodation is not required.)
5. The School judges that the applicant's medical history, or current physical or mental status, are not suited to the pressures of the course of study.

3. Extent of duty of the School

The School, upon receiving the application, will perform the following duties.

- i. Furnishing of information
Upon receiving the application, the School will provide timely information to the applicant in response to the applicant's questions or requests.
- ii. Living arrangement procedures
The school will provide accommodations according to the applicant's requests. Accommodation is contracted directly between the applicant and the accommodation provider, not the school. The school acts as a contract facilitator. If the requested accommodation is not available, the school may ask the applicant to consider another accommodation type.

If the applicant is not willing to accept alternative accommodation, the applicant may choose to withdraw from the contract without penalty as provided in these terms. In some cases, two or more students may stay in the same accommodation at the same time.

- I. Accommodation is contracted directly between the applicant and the accommodation provider, NOT the School. The School acts as the contract facilitator. In case of contractual claims related to accommodation, the School will do all in our power to help, but the contractual responsibility lies with the accommodation provider, and the School cannot accept responsibility for provisions outside the terms of this contract.

- II. For example, if the student wishes to cancel the accommodation early, there may be a cancellation fee levied by the accommodation provider, in addition to any School cancellation fees provided for in these Terms. Clarify with the accommodation provider in advance, if you do not receive notification.

ii. International travel insurance

Applicants must purchase international travel insurance. Most international visitors are not eligible for publicly funded medical services while in Japan. If you receive medical treatment while in Japan, you may need to cover the entire cost of that treatment. About the cooling-off period

- i. As stated in 3. Extent of duty of the School above, accommodation facilities are contracted directly between the applicant and the accommodation provider, not the school. The school acts as a contract facilitator. It is the applicant's responsibility to read their accommodation's cancellation fees, etc. If your accommodation provider does not provide this guidance, please contact them before moving in.
- ii. If you wish to shorten your study period, you must move out of the accommodation arranged by the school within one week from the last day of your study. In this case, the school is responsible for informing the student of the last day of their accommodation stay.

- When the school is closed for national holidays or other scheduled closing, a free event will be held instead, or students will be refunded tuition for missed classes. If no event is held, students will be refunded 1100 yen per group lesson, or 4200 yen per private lesson. A student's fees will not be refunded even if the student chooses not to attend the scheduled event.
- If the applicant is absent from scheduled group classes, no refund will be provided regardless of the reason. However, at the School's discretion, the School may allow the student to join other scheduled classes of the same duration. For example, if a student misses two days of classes, in some cases it may be possible to extend the student's stay by two days for no extra cost, if an applicable class is already scheduled. In these cases, a new class will not be made specifically for the applicant.

- In cases where a third party has paid all or part of the student's fees, the permission of the third party is required before the school can refund directly to the student.
- When shortening a student visa course, any refund you might be eligible for will only be made after the school has been able to confirm that you are no longer resident in Japan using the student visa provided by the school.

8. Changes after application

1. Students can request to change the course of study after an application has been completed. The school reserves the right to refuse this change of course. However, we try to accommodate all requests where possible.
2. Requests to change the course of study must be made at least one week in advance of the requested date of change. Changes are only accepted to take effect from Monday of each week. Therefore, a change request made on a Tuesday, for example, will take effect on the second Monday thereafter. This period may be shortened at the discretion of the school.

9. Course Changes if Few Students

1. If the class that GenkiJACS has placed you in has only one or two students, and you are not studying on a student visa, lessons will be given as follows:
 - i. One student only:
 - I. Standard Course: 5 private lessons per week plus 10 group lessons with the closest available class, or 10 private lessons per week if no appropriate class is available.
 - II. Japanese Plus Conversation Course additional conversation lessons: 2 private lessons per week.
 - ii. Two students only:

 - II. Japanese Plus Conversation Course additional conversation lessons: 3 semi-private lessons per week.

* Note that this condition only applies to cases where GenkiJACS teachers have placed you in a class as above. It does not apply if you have requested private lessons yourself.

10. Exemption from responsibility

1. If any of the following causes result in the applicant being unable to study, the date of study being changed, or any other problem, we will do our best to work with the applicant to make alternate arrangements; however if arrangements can not be made, the School will not accept legal responsibility.
 - i. If the desired accommodation cannot be secured due to factors beyond the school's control (such as illness of the selected host family).
 - ii. If the applicant is refused accommodation due to an act that violates the accommodation's rules or an act that clearly violates social standards.
 - iii. If it is considered impossible to provide classes due to the applicant's health, and staying in Japan is deemed unfeasible.
 - iv. If it is considered impossible to provide classes due to the applicant's health.
 - v. If admission is refused for the reasons listed in Section 6 above.
 - vi. Cancellation or change due to the applicant's personal reasons outside of those listed here.

Applicants are responsible for their own actions from the time they arrive in Japan. The school will not bear any legal responsibility for any damage caused by the applicant's intentional actions that violate laws, regulations, customs, or school regulations. In addition, if the applicant's intended actions result in a loss to the school, we will request the applicant to pay compensation for damages.

Applicants are responsible for their own valuables during their stay. Always keep valuables in a locked suitcase or safe place.
